A GREAT NEW SCHEDULE EVERY WEEK

Home Box Office starts the new year with a new concept in programming—a different schedule every week. Now each week HBO has three premiere movies, a young people's feature, a foreign film, a horror film, encore movies and sports from across the nation.

Two new movies will premiere on Monday and one on Friday, with several showings during the following week. A new young people's feature will be shown each Tuesday afternoon, with additional showings on Thursdays and Saturdays. Friday evenings are when our horror films will unfold, with special additional showings on Sunday afternoons. Foreign feature films will be shown every Wednesday evening, with an additional showing on Sundays. A new episode of our acclaimed series The Pallisers will appear on Wednesday, with additional showings on Friday and Sunday.

Our agreements with Madison Square Garden, the L.A. Forum and professional teams around the country assure you top basketball, hockey, baseball and other sporting events throughout the year. And we also will continue to bring you outstanding special sports events such as the U.S. Pro Tennis Championship from the Spectrum in Philadelphia at the end of this month.

Our expanded programming staff now enables us to find new and unique events, such as a series of classic cartoons that you will be seeing this month, including vintage Tom & Jerry, Felix The Cat and Mutt & Jeff. We have redesigned our programming and the format of On Air in response to your suggestions. We will continue to be responsive to your comments.

A look at what's up on Home Box Office

From now on we'll be using this page for a report to subscribers; letting you know in advance about the special programs and events coming up on Home Box Office.

As you've seen by looking at this copy of On Air, we have redesigned our guide to go along with the new HBO weekly program concept. Pages two and three—HBO This Month—now give you complete details on each week's films, sports and specials. When you get your copy of On Air you can use that list to help you choose what night you want to see a film or find out what days your favorite sports events for that week will be on.

Pages four and five of On Air will be our lead article each month, with a behind-the-scenes look at films by contributing editor Gary J. Prebula, or a report on sports by contributing editor Herman Weiskopf.

You'll find the highlights of the first week of the month on the next two pages, with the complete schedule for that week on the following two pages. On our schedule pages will be short summaries of each of our premieres, encores and other events for that week. Use those summaries to decide what you want to see that week, then look at the seven days of detailed schedule information to find out exactly what time and day the film or event is on. There is the same combination of two pages of highlights followed by two pages of schedule for the other three weeks of the month.

Starting in March Home Box Office will be bringing you the American Film Theatre. You'll be able to see one new AFT film a month throughout the rest of the year.

Since September 30 HBO has, via satellite, gone national. We have already welcomed new subscribers in Ft. Pierce and Vero Beach, Fla.; Jackson, Miss.; Laredo, Texas; Tulsa, Okla.; Ft. Smith, Ark.; Owensboro, Ky.; Eugene, Ore.; Tacoma and Seattle, Washington; Mobile and Tuscaloosa, Ala.; and Fairmont, W.V. Joining the national Home Box Office satellite network in the coming month will be affiliates located in Gadsden, Ala.; Galveston, Texas; Dubuque, Iowa; Portsmouth, Ohio and Rochester, Minn.
